August 10, 2026

TULSA, OK - August 10, 2026 -

MaxLiving Chiropractic - Cherry Street provides chiropractic care in Tulsa, OK through a structured, personalized model led by Dr. Quinn Will, Doctor of Chiropractic. The clinic applies the 5 Essentials framework as its guiding approach to patient care. This established practice focuses on individualized plans and education for families and individuals in the local community.

The clinic's care centers on chiropractic adjustments delivered according to each patient's assessed needs. The 5 Essentials framework includes Core Chiropractic, Nutrition, Mindset, Oxygen and Exercise, and Minimize Toxins. These elements are presented together as a comprehensive structure for developing care plans. Core Chiropractic forms the primary component through adjustments. The remaining elements support recommendations related to daily habits, movement, and lifestyle factors. Plans are customized rather than standardized, with attention given to the specific circumstances of each patient.

Patient visits follow a defined sequence. Care begins with a review of the individual's health history, current concerns, limitations, and goals. Data collection may include assessments or imaging. Findings are reviewed with the patient so that the basis for recommendations is clear. Education is provided to help patients understand the plan and apply related guidance between visits. The process emphasizes clarity and collaboration.

Dr. Quinn Will serves as the Doctor of Chiropractic and owner of the clinic. His background includes college soccer at Oklahoma Baptist University, which contributed to his interest in wellness. He completed his chiropractic education at Palmer College of Chiropractic's West Campus. In practice, he conducts workshops, seminars, and outreach programs. He maintains partnerships with local organizations that include COTAN in Tulsa, Lincoln Christian School, and Indian Health Services. These activities extend education and support beyond regular clinic visits. Dr. Will has been married to his wife Tabitha since 2012. The couple shares a focus on assisting others through consistent, patient-centered care.

?Personalized care plans that incorporate chiropractic adjustments and the 5 Essentials allow us to address each patient?s specific circumstances in a clear and structured way,? said Dr. Quinn Will, Doctor of Chiropractic at MaxLiving Chiropractic - Cherry Street.

The clinic operates as part of the MaxLiving network. The network has maintained a consistent focus on family-centered care across its locations for more than two decades. At the Cherry Street location, this translates into attention to individual needs, educational resources, and community involvement. Staff members contribute to a supportive environment, with some team members drawing from their own experiences as former patients to assist others.

Community partnerships form a regular part of the clinic?s activities. Through workshops, school collaborations, and work with Indian Health Services, the team shares information and resources with a range of groups. This outreach complements the in-clinic process and reflects a commitment to broader local engagement.

?Workshops, seminars, and partnerships with local organizations help extend education and support so that more people can apply practical steps related to their care plans,? said Dr. Quinn Will, Doctor of Chiropractic at MaxLiving Chiropractic - Cherry Street.

Care remains complementary to other health services patients may receive. The clinic prioritizes thorough assessment, clear communication, and plans that patients can follow with guidance. Adjustments are delivered with attention to precision and individual response. Lifestyle recommendations drawn from the 5 Essentials are offered as supportive elements within the overall plan.

The approach emphasizes documentation of findings, review of results with patients, and ongoing education. This sequence is intended to create transparency and help patients remain informed participants in their care. The clinic continues to apply the same structured process for new and existing patients alike.

MaxLiving Chiropractic - Cherry Street is a chiropractic clinic that applies the 5 Essentials framework. The practice focuses on core chiropractic care along with related recommendations in nutrition, mindset, exercise, and toxin reduction as part of personalized patient plans.
